Winner - Custom Home: Under 2,500 sq. ft.

The Kinsmen Club of Sudbury 23rd Showcase Home, Sudbury, by J.Corsi Developments Inc.

For more than a decade, J. Corsi Developments Inc. has been building the Kinsmen Lottery Home, and every year the tickets are sold out before the Early Bird draw. This year was no exception and The Kinsmen Club distributed over $100,000 to local charities. That's no surprise given the home's charm.

To begin with, the layout allowed a large number of people to flow through the home with ease, a design necessity because approximately 20,000 people view this home within two to three months. The street appeal of this home starts with the simulated stone masonry throughout the exterior of the home and a castle like rotunda. Interior features included eight inch hollow core slab flooring, a media room complete with a theater area (this room could also control media feeds throughout the home), and a rounded staircase leading up to a natural cherry wood kitchen, complete with granite countertops and matching breakfast area.

What the judges said: A winner in every sense of the word. The cork flooring was a refreshing change from hardwood, laminate and carpet.
